

Direct Hiring

The Mom Project connects world-class employers with experienced and diverse candidates who are ready to make a big impact.

The competition for diverse talent is more fierce than ever.

Overwhelmingly, women (83%) say they would be willing to leave a job for a role that better supports their desired workplace criteria.

In a marketplace competing for the attention and engagement of working mothers, the importance of understanding and meeting the criteria women care most about cannot be stressed strongly enough.

KEY BENEFITS

Pipeline of diverse, experienced talent

Highly passive talent pool with average of 12 years of experience

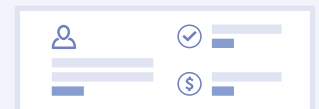

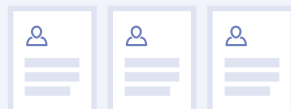

How it works

Work with our Enterprise team to scope a role or post a permanent opportunity on our marketplace.

Within 3 days you'll begin receiving recommendations for vetted, qualified candidates who are a great match for your opportunity.

Review candidates and request interviews with those who peak your interest, and follow your normal hiring process from there.

Hire the candidate you like the best and our platform handles the contracting, background checks and payment processing.

Get started!

Post a direct hire opportunity now or get in touch with our Enterprise sales team.
